Forecast for Thursday 24 Mar 2022

Weather: Dry with clear spells and some patchy mist or frost in the glens away from the west coast through the early hours. Some early morning bright or sunny spells at first towards Ben Hope, but otherwise persistent low cloud. Some patchy light drizzle near the west coast, but mainly dry in the east. Clear spells developing in the evening, mainly across the far north.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 20-30%, but 60% in the far north

Low cloud and visibility: Visibility mostly good outside of low cloud, a slight haze in the morning. Cloud spreading west to become extensive above 400-500m soon after dawn, but only occasional patches mainly above 600m across Assynt and the far north. A chance that cloud may briefly lift and break from the west around late afternoon and early evening.

Feeling chilly in the wind.

Forecast for Friday 25 Mar 2022
Weather: Mostly cloudy through the early hours. Cloud may thin and break at times in the east through the day, but is likely to persist across western hills, particularly along the west coast. Remaining cloudy in the evening. Mainly dry, perhaps a few spots of light drizzle in the west at times.

Maximum wind: West or southwest 15 mph, gusting 25-30 mph across the higher tops.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 30% in the west, 60% in the east

Low cloud and visibility: Visibility generally good or very good outside of any low cloud. Large uncertainty in cloud amounts, but bases likely to be often down to 400-500m near the west coast. Cloud likely to be more broken up in the east, bases nearer 600m.

Temperature: Glens: Plus 4 Celsius rising to 13 Celsius
At 800m: Plus 3 Celsius rising to 6 Celsius
Freezing level: Above the summits.
